

July 15, 2014

To Whom It May Concern:

The purpose of this letter is to introduce David Dunn and D3 Survey & Mapping, Inc. to your organization as a highly qualified survey firm that you should consider for your pipeline construction projects. D3 Survey & Mapping, Inc. is the successor of Dunn Surveying, Inc.

For ten years, I served as Project Manager for Energy Transfer on major pipeline construction projects in the United States. I met David Dunn in 2005 on a project that had significant survey challenges and the project timelines appeared to be unattainable. David and his entire team at Dunn Surveying, Inc., through hard work, long hours, and dedication to the project, ensured that the construction and engineering timelines were met and the client achieved its goals.

Since that time, I have exclusively utilized David Dunn, Dunn Surveying, Inc., and D3 Survey & Mapping, Inc. for the survey services of the major projects for which I was the Project Manager. Over the past nine years, David has been responsible for the survey of eight major cross country pipeline projects for Energy Transfer. All of these projects had stringent timelines. David operates under the professional theory that being on-time and on-budget is not an option, but a mandate. He has been successful in achieving every timeline on every project he has done with me. He is a good steward of the client's budget as well as its timeline.

I have found David and D3 to be highly professional and knowledgeable of the pipeline industry, diligent in duties and team players.

I retired in 2013, however, I recently came out of retirement to assist Energy Transfer with a major cross country pipeline project, known as The Dakota Access Pipeline. I am pleased that David and D3 were available to handle the survey of the project spread for which I am responsible, being 347 miles in the states of Iowa.

I am pleased to provide my strong recommendation and endorsement of David Dunn and D3 for all your survey and mapping needs. If you would like to discuss my experience with David, I can be reached at 832-421-5691.

Sincerely,

Jack Edwards